(are the topics appropriate, is the data really useable, how old is the posted data?)
- Getting Started
 - assessment tools
 - core content on relocation issues (tip sheets)
- Installations
 - more details on features and options
 - handout on revised list of categories and topics for both Getting Started section and Installation information
- Providers: new features, resources, challenges
- Questions and Comments

MOVING MADE EASIER

Challenges and Goals for SITES4

- Make web site more user-friendly and modern
- Streamline content, yet provide more resources to user
- Expand core information and links
- Offer option of “mini-site” for small facilities & others
- Ensure Section 508 compliance (ADA & DoD standards)
- Cost out, prioritize enhancements, roll out in phases

Welcome to SITES

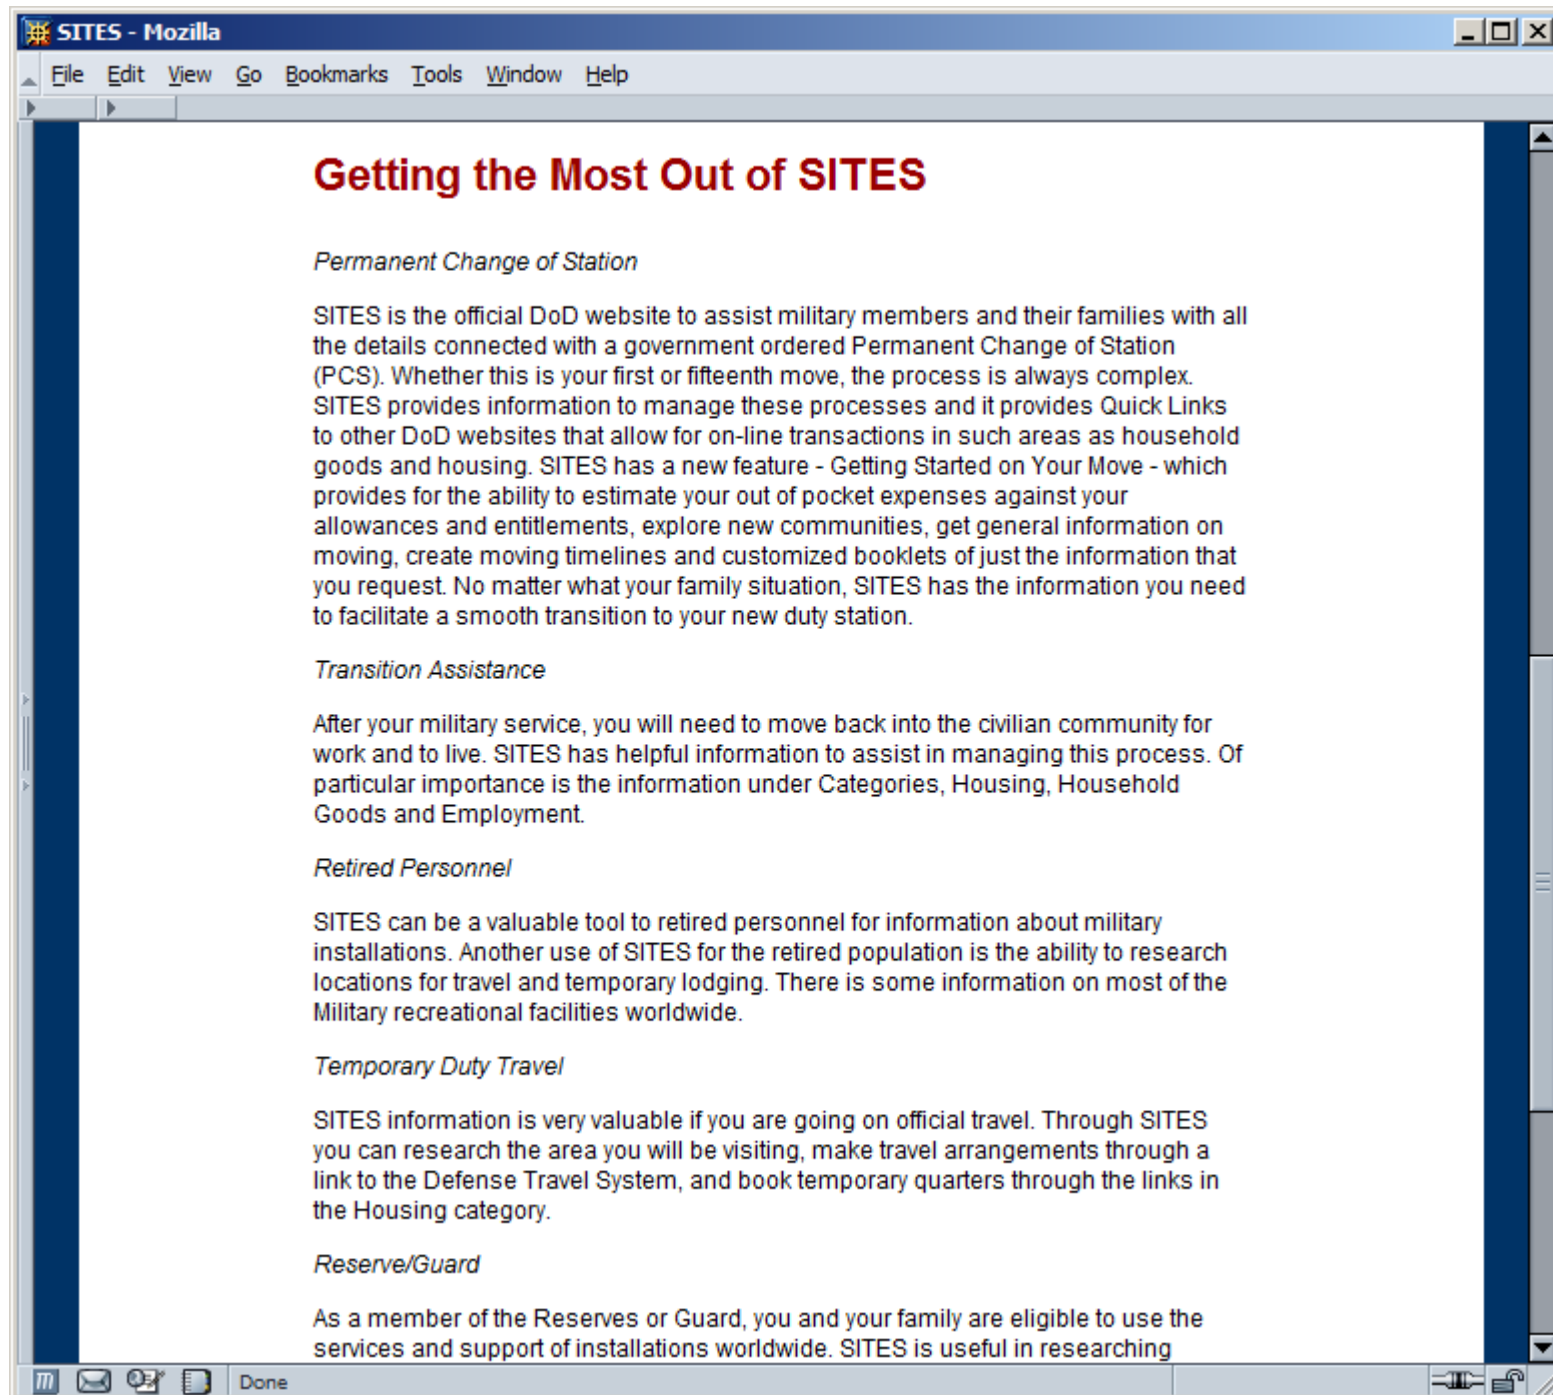

Is it time to move? Have you got PCS orders? Are you thinking about your next duty station? Is it time to transition out of the Military? Have you retired and want to plan some travel? Are you in the Guard/Reserves? Is a deployment in your future? For all you and for others, SITES provides you valuable information. SITES is a gateway to related resources to find all the answers to make your move or travel easier. The information within SITES has been collected and kept current by the Office of the Secretary of Defense and your local Relocation Assistance Program manager located in your family or community center.

Getting the Most Out of SITES

Permanent Change of Station

SITES is the official DoD website to assist military members and their families with all the details connected with a government ordered Permanent Change of Station (PCS). Whether this is your first or fifteenth move, the process is always complex. SITES provides information to manage these processes and it provides Quick Links to other DoD websites that allow for on-line transactions in such areas as household goods and housing. SITES has a new feature - Getting Started on Your Move - which provides for the ability to estimate your out of pocket expenses against your allowances and entitlements, explore new communities, get general information on moving, create moving timelines and customized booklets of just the information that you request. No matter what your family situation, SITES has the information you need to facilitate a smooth transition to your new duty station.

Transition Assistance

After your military service, you will need to move back into the civilian community for work and to live. SITES has helpful information to assist in managing this process. Of particular importance is the information under Categories, Housing, Household Goods and Employment.

Retired Personnel

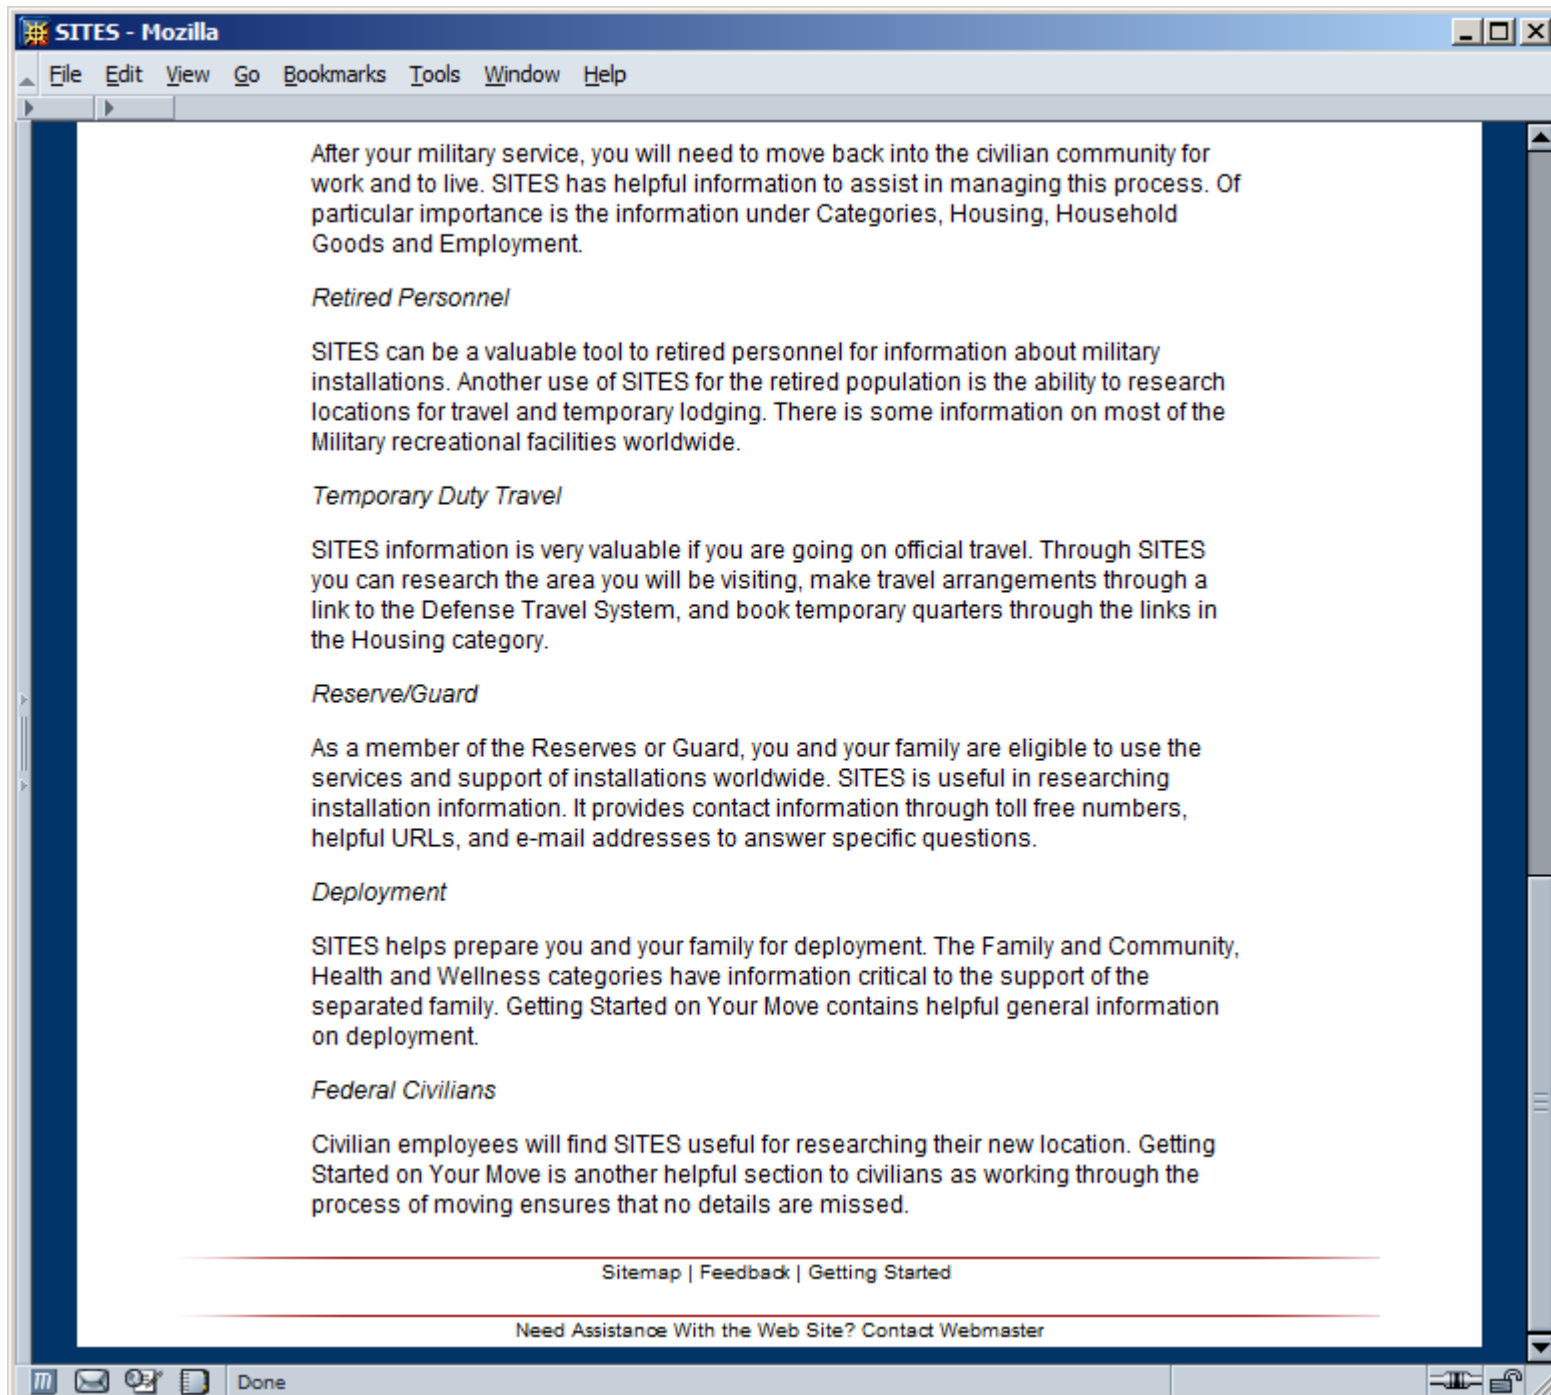

SITES can be a valuable tool to retired personnel for information about military installations. Another use of SITES for the retired population is the ability to research locations for travel and temporary lodging. There is some information on most of the Military recreational facilities worldwide.

Temporary Duty Travel

SITES information is very valuable if you are going on official travel. Through SITES you can research the area you will be visiting, make travel arrangements through a link to the Defense Travel System, and book temporary quarters through the links in the Housing category.

Reserve/Guard

As a member of the Reserves or Guard, you and your family are eligible to use the services and support of installations worldwide. SITES is useful in researching

As a member of the Reserves or Guard, you and your family are eligible to use the services and support of installations worldwide. SITES is useful in researching installation information. It provides contact information through toll free numbers, helpful URLs, and e-mail addresses to answer specific questions.

Deployment

SITES helps prepare you and your family for deployment. The Family and Community, Health and Wellness categories have information critical to the support of the separated family. Getting Started on Your Move contains helpful general information on deployment.

Federal Civilians

Civilian employees will find SITES useful for researching their new location. Getting Started on Your Move is another helpful section to civilians as working through the process of moving ensures that no details are missed.

Fort Test Installation - Alabama, United States

In the Military, moving is a way of life. When you receive orders, anticipate receiving orders, or need to travel for work or pleasure, the information in SITES helps you plan an efficient smooth trip. The Military provides a supportive infrastructure on many installations worldwide, but more than likely the resources of the surrounding community will support your everyday needs and perhaps you will be living in the community around the facility where you are stationed. This category provides you the basic information on the new location and the surrounding community. Of particular importance are directions to the installation, in-processing procedures, links to the installation home pages, information on weather, transportation and shopping plus much more. Important information can be found on your unit and other units connected to the installation.

Fort Test Installation - United States

The Army Aviation Center, Fort Test Installation, Alabama, is located in the southeast corner of lower Alabama. Fort Test Installation is approximately 80 miles south of Montgomery and 20 miles northwest of Dothan. Florida's Gulf Coast lies 80 miles to the south. The communities of Enterprise, Daleville, and Ozark are west, south and east of the post, respectively and serve as our three main gates.

There's a lot of old-fashioned Southern hospitality on post as well as in the friendly communities that are our neighbors.

The post covers about 64,500 acres of countryside in an area known as the "Wiregrass", named for a wild grass peculiar to the region.

Much of the main post is in Dale County, with the remaining government-owned and leased acreage in Coffee, Geneva and Houston counties. Most of the countryside is rolling and wooded. An abundance of lakes and streams and proximity to Gulf of Mexico make this area a fisherman's paradise.

Fort Test Installation is located in the southeast corner of lower Alabama. It is approximately 40 minutes from the Florida State line and 45 minutes from the Georgia state line.

Mission

The current mission of the Army Aviation Center is to develop the aviation force for its worldwide mission. This includes developing concepts, doctrine, organization, training, leader development, materiel, and soldier requirements. Also provide resident and nonresident aviation maintenance, logistics and leadership training in support of the total force and foreign nations for the sustainment of joint and combined aviation operations.

To carry out our mission, we support a daytime population of about 14,000, including about 5,100 service members, 6,400 civilian and contract employees, and 2,500 military family members residing on post. This post supports about

Each season brings its own special events and festivals. Springtime arrives in a blaze of color with blooming azaleas, dogwoods, tulips, and daffodils. Opp hosts an annual Rattlesnake Rodeo festival featuring country music concerts, arts and crafts, rattlesnake shows, buck dance contest and greased pole climb. The city of Enterprise hosts the Annual Piney Woods Arts and Crafts in April sponsored by the Coffee County Arts Alliance. This 1 1/2 day festival features a juried art show, cash prizes, delicious food, children's activities, and entertainment. The Spring season in Ozark begins with the annual Festival on the Lake which is held each May at beautiful Edward D. Lisenby Lake. The event features arts & crafts, food, 5k run, fishing tournament, music and an Antique Car Show. Gulf breezes and frequent rainfalls moderate the summer nights. Dothan hosts the Future Masters Golf Tournament each July. Each Summer, Ozark hosts the Gulf States Retired Military Golf Tournament, open to all retired military personnel and their spouses. In August, the South Alabama Pro Rodeo Classis is held at Ozark's Steagall Park. The rodeo weekend includes a parade through the downtown area complete with horses, cowboys and Rodeo queens. In the Fall, when the peanut crop is harvested, Dothan celebrates with the National Peanut Festival. This celebration is packed with recording stars, carnival attractions, traditional folklore events, and a spectacular parade. The Ozark community kicks off the emergence of Fall and the football season with a Community Spirit Parade and Pep Rally in downtown Ozark. Also, Fall is synonymous with the Antique Show and the Claybank Jamboree in Ozark. The Antique

INSTALLATION
Fort Test Installation - Alabama, United States
The greatest question facing anyone when you move is, where am I and my family going to live in the new location? Often the Military provides temporary and permanent housing and just as often service members need to make their own housing decisions absent available quarters. Finding a rental, or buying a property, is a complex process that should not be taken lightly. The information in this category will provide you with the resources to research and make intelligent fiscally sound decisions for where you will spend your first night and the remainder of your tour.

All Military Personnel assigned to Fort Test Installation must report to Family Housing either for familyquarters or for off-post community housing. Family Housing at Fort Test Installation is voluntary, not mandatory, unless the position held has been designated as key and essential by the Installation Commander.

All Military Personnel in Permissive Temporary Duty (PTDY) status for House Hunting must report to Family Housing prior to the start date of their PTDY to have their DA-31 stamped & validated by housing personnel. Without this validation, the Finance Office will charge leave for this period. (Family Housing can not backdate this validation.)

Advanced Applications are not accepted at Fort Test Installation, Service
